Welcome to Brimfield!

Three times a year, the Brimfield shows attract thousands of dealers and shoppers from around the world looking to stroll down Memory Lane, add to their collection, find that perfect piece for that special spot or discover a new DIY project. Unique and eclectic old and vintage finds share the fields with antiques from all eras, repurposed projects, and decorative embellishments. A photo gallery of Brimfield finds can be found on our Instagram page @journal_of_antiques, a great way to experience Brimfield if you can't get here to do it in person – as is our Facebook page.

With 19 show fields and venues, some open daily and others only open for a few select days during the show week, it is hard to know where to start. Our best advice is to consult with the Show Schedule (page 3) to see what shows will be open while you are here, consult our Map (page 5) to see where each show is located along Route 20, and then start walking until something catches your eye. Our bet is you won't have to walk too far! Each show field has a community of professional dealers with a dazzling array of merchandise waiting to welcome you and answer your questions. For more information on what's offered on each show field, see page 7.

We hope you find this Brimfield Show Guide useful, here at the Brimfield shows for local places to stay, dine, and shop, and for learning about other upcoming antique and collectibles shows taking place around the country. You will also find a Shop Finder Guide for places to stop and antique shop along the way. For a more complete Calendar of Shows, please visit our website at www.JournalofAntiques.com.

Handled by Dealers –

Restrooms:

Every showfield has porta-potties and wash stations.

Types of Antiques/Vintage Goods:

Each dealer buys and sells the types of goods they specialize in with some surprises.

Have something in mind you hope to find? Ask the dealer. Usually there are more boxes of items still to be unpacked and displayed or a dealer has nearby access to their inventory. If they don't have it, or don't deal in that type of antique, ask if they know someone who does.

How To Pay

Cash is king, as they say, but many dealers accept credit/debit cards, Venmo, PayPal, ApplePay, and more. ATMs are available at some fields. Dealers will likely hold what you wish to purchase while you get money or retrieve your checkbook. Many take checks if they are local and with your contact information.

Return Policies

Most of the time during a show like this it is a matter of buying "as is, where is" and no returns are allowed. However, if you are making a larger purchase, be sure to talk with the dealer about their return policy and how that would be handled.

Buying After the Show

If you spot something you really like, but are not sure about on the day, ask for the dealer's information and about the chance to purchase later if you change your mind. You may wish to take a picture of the item to refer to later.

Delivery

If you are visiting from far away, you may want to get your purchases delivered. It is not up to the Dealer to manage that, but some may. Otherwise, you can reach out to area offices for FedEx, UPS, USPS, etc. to see what they are offering for Brimfield Shows – some have on-site pickup.

What is China?

Ceramics, in its broadest term, defines the art of making any object from clay by baking it. Just as the term “vehicle” can mean car, airplane, or spaceship, the term “ceramics” includes a like number of variations, either in design or materials.

WHAT IS CHINA?

Basically, the chemical composition of china is a combination of clay, kaolin, feldspar, and quartz. Other materials may be added, depending on the relative quality of the raw materials available and the results the manufacturer wishes to achieve. After the purest of raw materials are mixed and prepared, the product is shaped and molded into the desired forms and placed through a series of firings at extremely high temperatures and for long periods of time. The number of firings is often determined by the nature of the design sought. As with stoneware, the body becomes vitrified; which means the body fuses, becomes nonabsorbent, and very strong. Unlike stoneware, china becomes very white and translucent.

CHINA VS PORCELAIN

Many people are confused as to the difference between “china” and “porcelain.” Actually, the two terms describe the same product. The term

“china” comes from its country of origin, and the word “porcelain” comes from the Latin word “porcella,” meaning seashell. It implies a product which is smooth, white, and lustrous. The term “porcelain” is preferred in Europe while “china” is favored in the United States. China is “at the top of the list” of ceramic products because of its delicate beauty, and the extreme care and skill taken to produce it. China is very delicate in appearance only, as it is known for its great strength and resistance to chipping, which results from a high firing temperature.

BONE CHINA

In making bone china, calcified bone is used as a refractory material and the firing temperature is lower. Bone china is usually thinner and the glaze is smoother than porcelain china. The glaze, however, is not as durable as porcelain china since it is softer. “Bone china” starts the same way as porcelain china but includes an extra ingredient: bone ash. This is a white powdery substance and the by-product of incinerated animal bone. Bone ash gives the body of the plate a unique milky white color. Bone ash adds translucency to the body of the dinnerware, and makes the dish stronger by making it softer. It’s true! By making the dinnerware less brittle, the bone ash makes it more resilient and less likely to break.

GLOSSARY

Bone China: Contains up to 50% animal ash, which is burned and ground to a fine powder.

Ceramics: Generic term referring to all ware made of earth materials and processed by firing or baking.

China: Another generic term, usually referring to fine porcelain. Called “china” because it is the country credited with creating dinnerware.

Clay: Raw material formed when rock breaks down either due to the weather or chemical processes.

Crackledware: Clayware surface marked by tiny cracks deliberately induced by sudden cooling.

Decal: A design-bearing sheet applied to ware, resulting in transfer decoration (transferware).

Firing: Baking process to harden, strengthen, or fuse.

Gilding: Using gold or platinum to decorate.

Glaze: Glossy transparent or colored coating baked onto clayware to make it nonabsorbent.

Luster: Ceramic glaze coating, metallic in nature, which gives the finished piece an iridescent effect.

Matte Finish: Flat glaze finish without gloss.

Porcelain: Hard, translucent clayware unusually consisting of 50% kaolin, 25% quartz, and 25% feldspar fired at high temperatures.

Stoneware: Dense clay fired at 2400 degrees. Glazes in subdued earthy tones, giving a hand-crafted look. Porous and chip-resistant.
